City Council to Reconsider Sale Of Cemetery Plots in Historic Site

by Bill Rowland

Greenbelt's city council will reconsider its decade-old decision that sharply restricted the further sale of lots in Greenbelt Cemetery. The subject has been reopened in response to a petition to council by Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Siegal of Maplewood Court, who want to purchase two lots now closed off from sale "in order that our family members who continue to make Greenbelt their home can purchase lots adjacent to ours." Council, at its next regular meeting on Monday, March 19, is expected to begin discussion of a proposed ordinance that would permit sale of all unsold lots in the cemetery. A decision at that meeting seems unlikely because council has not yet asked any of its advisory boards — such as the Community Relations Advisory Board or the Park and Recreation Advisory Board — to review and make recommendations on the proposal.

Greenbelt Cemetery is located off Ivy Lane just north of Capital Office Park. The city obtained ownership of the property by quit claim deed from the federal government in 1941, and holds title only "for so long as said real property is used as a cemetery." The deed further permits the city to dispose of lots in the cemetery only to residents of the city, or to persons who have a member of their family buried in the cemetery.

The cemetery is a rectangle of 3.1 acres, of which only a small part (about 14%) is designated as the burial ground. According to City Manager James Giese in a 1974 memorandum to council, the western part of the burial ground "is the old Turner family burial plot. This plot probably dates back to the early 1800's. Only one marker remains, that of Thomas P. Turner (September 26, 1855). There are stones that are believed to mark the graves of . . . slaves of the family. Also located somewhere in this area are the remains taken from other old and unidentified gravesites uncovered during the construction of Greenbelt."

The eastern end of the burial ground is the modern cemetery, divided into 63 lots that would provide a total of 168 grave sites. By 1972, almost all of the lots in the western half of the cemetery had been sold, but none in the eastern half. At that time council put a moratorium on further sales. In 1974, council passed an ordinance that had the effect of prohibiting the sale of any of the 27 lots (72 grave sites) in the eastern half. It is that 1974 decision which council will now be reconsidering.

Giese, in a January 1984 letter to the Siegals, explained the 1974 council decision as follows:

"Because the cemetery is very small and the sale of lots will never provide sufficient funds to provide perpetual maintenance for the lots, and such future maintenance will have to be provided at taxpayers' expense, I recommended to council (in 1974) that the sale of lots be limited to those sections where burials had already taken place. Further, with the development that is planned to surround the cemetery, it is my belief that this area will be actively used in the future as a park by persons employed in the adjacent office buildings. It was my suggestion in 1974 that the cemetery area be utilized as a passive recreational area with benches and walks, and that future development beyond the existing grave sites be in the form of memorials to citizens of Greenbelt—trees, gardens and other decorative items—rather than as resting places for a very small number of Greenbelt citizens."

The Siegals, in their petition to council, took note of Giese's

Co-op Board Responds To Concerns on Divestiture Process

by Gary Kohn

On March 5, members of the Steering Committee of the Save Our Services (SOS) citizens group met with Paul Mohn and Gifford Hoag, Chairman and Vice Chairman respectively of the Greenbelt Cooperative Inc. (GCI) Board. Representing the SOS Committee were: Joe Isaacs, SOS chairman; Jim Parker, vice chairman; Joe Remenick, chairman of the "Retain GCI" subcommittee; Gary Kohn, chairman of the "Replacement Operators" subcommittee; and Suzanne Plogman, public relations chairperson.

Isaacs told the Board that the SOS Committee supports all other community efforts to achieve the goal of saving the services, specifically the legal effort to bring the divestiture decision to a vote of the Co-op membership and the effort to form a new locally-based cooperative.

Among the Committee's concerns, Isaacs said, was the fear that a potential replacement operator for the Co-op supermarket would not continue to provide pharmacy services. He emphasized that many elderly and disabled individuals living in the town's center area rely on the convenience of the Co-op pharmacy for filling their medicinal needs.

Jim Parker then expressed the concern that the service station might be converted to a gas-and-go or mini-mart operation, depriving Greenbelt of the services of one of the metropolitan area's most reliable repair stations.

Mohn suggested that no decision is irreversible where good reason exists to reconsider. However, the Board had at least on one occasion considered alternative approaches to the divestiture decision, only to decide that they were unwarranted, he said.

Mohn pledged that the supermarket and service station in Greenbelt would not be closed on April 1 and suggested that the March 31 divestiture date was only a general deadline that could be extended. He stated that there was no clear timetable for divestiture at this point, although it will probably occur in April.

The GCI Board Chairman then pledged that the retention of the

Co-op Membership Drive Proceeds on Schedule

by Jim Cassels

Greenbelt Consumer Cooperative (GCC), the new Co-op organized to save the Co-op Supermarket, Pharmacy and Gas Station for Greenbelt, has now passed the $40,000 mark in its drive for membership capital. The group's initial goal is $60,000 by April 1.

This membership capital, plus a $240,000 Co-op Bank loan, will enable GCC to acquire the inventories of the three local facilities and will provide working capital for their operation.

The drive for members and membership capital began February 9, and has averaged close to $10,000 a week. Mike Burchick, chairman of the drive is confident the last two weeks in March will see GCC reach its initial goal, and save the Co-op for Greenbelters.

The second goal will be to double the membership capital to a total of $125,000 and double the Co-op Bank loan to a total of $480,000. These funds will enable GCC to acquire all the equipment and leasehold improvements in the supermarket, the pharmacy and the service station.

The GCC Board of Directors meets every Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the Greenbelt Homes offices on Hamilton Place. All interested persons are invited to attend.

1004 Signatures

At its March 12 regular meeting, members of the Save Our Services (SOS) Committee presented the Board of Greenbelt Cooperative Inc. (GCI) with 1,004 signatures of Greenbelt Co-op members and consumers who have united to petition the Board to reverse its decision to divest the Co-op food, pharmacy and auto services in Greenbelt. The petitions were presented by Joe Isaacs, Gary Kohn, Jim Parker and David Moran, from the Save Our Services (SOS) Citizens Committee which sponsored the public petition campaign.

Joe Isaacs, SOS Chairman, stated, "Whether GCI liked it or not, the Greenbelt community and GCI are family, inextricably related from their mutual births in 1937. The fact that the cooperative has its birthplace within its name gives testimony to this." He stated that the community wants to keep our family intact, with GCI where it rightfully belongs — in Greenbelt. "Don't abandon your family," Isaacs urged, "we merit more from you than such indignity!" He then presented the Board with the 1,004 petitions and reiterated the message the people were sending — reverse or delay the divestiture decision. Isaacs noted that the petition campaign would continue through the end of the month so that the Board could expect to hear from more members of the Greenbelt community.

Gary Kohn, Chairman of the SOS Subcommittee for Replacement Operators then presented the Committee's criteria for operation of the supermarket and gas station. Kohn prefaced his remarks by noting that the SOS Committee views replacement operators as a last resort and only if all efforts to retain GCI's operation of the Co-op facilities fail. The criteria include operation by a community group retaining the cooperative format; retain the pharmacy, a bakery, a health food section, and a beer and wine section and retain as many of the present staff as possible. He stated that the service station should remain a gas and auto repair facility, and not be converted to gas-and-go or mini-mart operation.

Paul Mohn, GCI Board Chairman, explained the Board's response would have to await the outcome of the March 19 court hearing on a permanent restraining order to delay the divestiture.

WARNING

The Washington Gas Company is placing stickers on gas meters warning that tampering with gas meters is illegal and dangerous. A 24-hour hotline, 750-4570, has been set up so that persons can report addresses where they suspect gas thefts, without giving their names.

OPEN LETTER

(The following is an open letter to Secretary of Transportation Bridwell.)

Dear Secretary Bridwell:

As you are no doubt aware, for sometime now the citizens, as well as elected officials on the City, County and State levels have been urging the State Highway Administration to erect a light at Greenbelt and Mandan Roads. The need for this light is considered so critical that I ensured funding for its installation in the December 1983 Prince Georges County Bond Sale. Repeatedly we have been told that none of the conditions necessary to warrant signalization were present in studies which have been conducted.

As I have a background in zoning and transportation, I have a strong appreciation for standards, criteria, conditions and the like. However, I also understand that for every rule, an exception or administrative solution does exist.

On March 7, immediately following a meeting with Deputy Secretary Tom Hicks, a nearly fatal accident occurred at this intersection. Nearly fatal may be a misleading description. It is used only because at the time of this writing, the victim lies in critical condition, and doctors are unsure as to whether or not he will live.

How many more innocent people will lie in a hospital bed, hovering between life and death because of the dangerous condition which exists at Greenbelt and Mandan Roads? And what shall we tell the families of these innocent victims? Perhaps they would like to hear from you about warrants and conditions.

Secretary Bridwell, I urge you to put aside regulations and think carefully about the students and citizens who travel this section of Greenbelt Road. The installation of a traffic light will prevent accidents and injury as yet unknown. I do not want to explain the Manual on Uniform Traffic Control Devices to the family of a victim who was needlessly killed or handicapped. Do you?

Scandals Wanted

To the Editor:

Re: small audiences at Utopia.
 The tickets are reasonable, but I would have attended more often if they had cost less.

The plays have sounded interesting, I've watched one or two, and I would have attended more often if I had known about them. For the approximately 6 months preceding February we usually did not receive the News Review. I believe a notice should be posted weekly at least at Beltway Plaza and other high traffic locations, a notice portraying only one play at a time.

Perhaps business would pick up a bit if some scandals were generated about the personal lives of the players!

Please pass this on and wish 'em luck.

Sincerely,
 Bill Norwood

Who Wants the Utopia?

To the Editor:

An Editorial in the News Review commented on the sparse audiences at two recent productions at the Utopia Theatre. The writer of that editorial might have been even more surprised had he/she known that more than 50% of the Utopia's play-going audiences are not Greenbelters. People come from Laurel, Rockville, Bethesda, and Alexandria, Virginia to attend Utopia's productions, but people of Greenbelt—where are they?

The Greenbelt Players have presented a wide variety of plays—mysteries, comedies, dramas, costume, modern, and musical, with an average audience of 52! The only really "good" audiences have been for the Nutcracker Ballet and for some performances of the children's musical "Avery's Magic". Does this tell us that the only thing Greenbelters want to see is children's productions? Aren't people interested in other theatre?

We grant you that our facility does not have the ambience of the Kennedy Center or the National Theatre, but our prices are not $30-$45 per seat either. And we are improving—slowly but surely. With more community support, improvements could be much more rapid.

Four important activities will be occurring in rapid succession at the Utopia Theatre which will allow Greenbelt to indicate its desire to see the theatre continue and flourish:

1) March 23, at 8:15 p.m. is opening curtain for performances of three of Tennessee Williams' One Act Plays, which continue at the theatre through April 1.

2) Thursday, March 29, at 8 p.m., the annual meeting of the Greenbelt Cultural Arts Center will be held at the theatre. All members will be electing new members to the Board of Directors. All are invited to become members of the Arts Center by coming to the meeting, paying annual dues and participating in the meeting. Members who have allowed their dues to lapse will have the opportunity to pay dues and thereby actively participate in the elections.

3) The first week of April,

THANKS

To the Editor:

This is to thank all the good friends I have on the staff of the News Review, in the city of Greenbelt, and in Paint Branch Unitarian Church, for the party they arranged to mark my 80th birthday. It was truly a memorable occasion. However, I want to give credit where credit is due. This community, its school, and the organizations in which I am involved make it possible for me to "do my thing." All of Greenbelt, and Paint Branch Church reached out to me from the first days I came to live here, in the fall of 1972, and I hope to stay involved with you all for quite a few years to come.

4) The 1984-85 Play Season Committee also meets the first part of April. Interested playgoers are invited to submit names of plays they would like to see performed to the Play Selection Committee, Greenbelt Cultural Arts Center, P.O. Box 293, Greenbelt, Md. 20770.

Directors are also invited to submit their resumes, dates available, and names of plays they would like to direct to the same address.

Now, Greenbelt, it is up to you. Do you really want the Cultural Arts Center to survive? Or do you care? Make your feelings known. Attend a play. Become a part of a production. Join a group. Show you do care, before it's too late.

Greenbelt Wins Third Place

by Bob Luddy

The Greenbelt 1971 (13 year olds) boys basketball team defeated Berwyn Heights 51-17 to capture third place in the Langley Park Christmas Tournament. In the semi-final round, Greenbelt had been beaten by District Heights, 42-19.

In both games, Greenbelt displayed the aggressive style of play which has made them so successful. However, in the District Heights contest, turnovers (25) cost Greenbelt a victory.

Twenty-four hours later, the team successfully rebounded to close out the tournament against Northern League foe Berwyn Heights. Racing to a 12-2 first quarter lead, the Greenbelt attack featured well balanced scoring. An especially fine game was played by both Pat Conrad and Frank Campbell while George Clinedinst and Chuck Lorenzetti also threw in fine shots.

Chesapeake Bay Repair

by Philip J. Hanyok

The Chesapeake Bay is a "sick system . . . but not irreparably so," said William C. Baker at a forum on the bay held in the City Council Chambers on Jan. 24.

Baker, the executive director of the Chesapeake Bay Foundation, spoke as part of "A Citizen's Forum on the Chesapeake Bay: The Prince Georges County Perspective," which was sponsored by Delegate Joan B. Pitkin (D-23rd).

Pitkin sponsored the forum in an effort to inform area citizens about Governor Harry Hughes' 11 initiatives to begin cleaning up the Chesapeake Bay. She also moderated the forum.

The Chesapeake Bay has received special attention in the past few months as the Governors of Maryland, Pennsylvania and Virginia have pledged to support a long-term clean-up project. In addition to the states, President Reagan has offered federal funds for the clean-up project.

The project is expected to cost more than $40 million this year and even more in the next few years, according to Edwin L. Thomas, deputy secretary of state planning, who also attended the forum.

According to Pitkin the clean-up may require a tax increase. "It's not going to be inexpensive," Baker said. "But if people think the bay is worth it then it's a small price to pay."

The clean-up of the Bay and its tributaries is "good economics not just good environmentalism," Baker said.

If passed, Governor Hughes' initiatives would improve various pollution control projects and sewage treatment plants, improve enforcement capabilities of state and local governments, control soil erosion around the bay and strengthen programs to improve the bay's submerged aquatic vegetation, shellfish, finfish and waterfowl.

The initiatives also would establish a Maryland Chesapeake Bay Critical Areas Commission to protect the bay's shoreline, establish a Maryland Youth Conservation Corp and investigate the effects of acid rain on the bay.

Also speaking at the forum were William Eichbaum, assistant secretary for environmental programs, Department of Health and Mental Hygiene; Johanna Norris, vice chairperson, Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission; and Fran Flanigan, director, Citizen's Program for the Chesapeake Bay.

expectation that the cemetery area will "be actively used" as a passive recreation area by office workers. They pointed out to council that "The only access to a future park/garden is along the pathways adjacent to existing grave sites. Increased pedestrian traffic along these routes, together with noon-time picnicking in the park area, will necessitate more frequent maintenance than would be required in a cemetery maintained exclusively for its intended use. Thus, taxpayers will provide park maintenance for nonresidents in lieu of perpetual care for the resting place of deceased residents. We would ask council whether the 1974 ordinance will ultimately fail of its initial purpose: A decrease in maintenance costs."

The Siegals continued by observing that the cemetery "was obviously never intended to serve as a final resting place for more than a very small number of Greenbelt citizens. The (1974) ordinance has reduced that small number by 43%. Simultaneously, the number of long-time Greenbelt residents is growing; and growing older. Second and even third generations of Greenbelt families are permanent resident adults. We would ask council to consider, in retrospect, whether the closing off of 72 original grave sites at a time when the city was only 36 years young is still in the best interests of our citizens."

Referring to Giese's 1974 suggestion that future development of the cemetery be in the form of memorials to citizens of Greenbelt, the Siegals proposed to council that the city's preparations for its golden anniversary might include designation of several lots near the center of the cemetery for that purpose.

pharmacy will be a condition of any takeover of the supermarket, whether the new entity provides its own pharmacy, or whether it leases a pharmacy as a concession, an alternative suggested by the SOS Committee. He also said that the GCI Board would be willing to consider any other suggestions from the community. Mohn stated the Board's top priority is to afford a community group or cooperative the first opportunity to purchase the outgoing services. While bids from independent operators would be considered, the Board will still attempt to sell to a local group unless the outside bids are "significantly" greater than that of the local group.

All organizations interested must present a plan demonstrating their ability to repay any loans and service any debt. Those services now available must remain in place, and any outside group must have demonstrated a record of success and reliability, he commented.

Mohn told the Committee representatives that several independent operators have expressed interest in the supermarket and gas station, however, no offers have yet been reviewed. He said that the closing of the Fairlington Co-op supermarket on March 3 was not an ominous sign or a demonstration of bad faith. He explained that it was based on a Board decision made as a result of notice given by the leaseholder that the store must close by April as a result of a month-to-month lease for nearly three years.

Our Neighbors

Congratulations to the Greenbelt American Legion Post 136 Auxiliary which received a $400 cash prize from the National organization for being the unit which attained the most members over its goal by January 31, 1984. The money will be used for a community service project.

Elizabeth Greig, daughter of Bob and Joy Greig of Northway Road, has been named to the Dean's List at Bucknell University, where she is a freshman. Liz was Miss Greenbelt in 1982.

Former Greenbelter Andrea Hanyok and husband Charles Lashley are proud parents of a son, Eric Michael. Born at home on February 10, Eric weighed 9 lbs., 9 oz. He joins his two brothers David Andrew and Raymond Charles and a sister Lisa Ann. The family now resides in La Center, Washington. His grandfather is Andrew Hanyok of Greenbelt. Proud aunt and uncle are Ellen and Mark Hanyok of Greenbelt.

Greenbelt Grab Bag
by Punchin' Judy

February is a wonderful month! What? You think your faithful columnist has had one punch too many? Don't tell me that you are one of those who malign this marvelous time of year. I asked you not to tell me.

Look, I can prove it. What other month starts out right on the second day with a profound sooth-sayer like a groundhog? Without him, you would never be able to tell if there were to be six more weeks of winter or only 42 days.

Then we have the birthdays of two important presidents. Do you know when Millard Fillmore's birthday is? Of course not, but you certainly know about Honest Abe and dollar-tossing George. And I bet that you do a little dollar-tossing yourself at the G.W. Birthday sales, right?

Moving right along, we come to another great feature. No matter how miserable the weather—and it hasn't been this year—you don't have to put up with it too long, since February is the shortest of all months. And just for an additional treat, every fourth year you get to have that odd extra day, at absolutely no additional charge.

Ah, and what can compare to that heartthrob time: Valentine's Day! Oh the cards, oh the flowers, oh the candy, oh the calories! Never mind.

We mustn't forget television. February is ratings time, so the lucky viewer gets to choose between movies, miniseries, and the chance to mourn the favorite show that has been pre-empted. You say you couldn't watch because of the snow on your set? No, don't call the repair person. That was the Winter Olympics.

And then, in the waning days of this wonderful month, what pokes its little head out of the ground? No, not the groundhog, silly. We already talked about that; weren't you paying attention? It's the first crocus, ready to welcome the first robin. Who cares if we get another blizzard? Certainly not the crocus. It's here to remind us of what we should have noticed—the days are getting longer.

Before you know it, its March. In like a lion and out like a lamb. Or the other way around. Whatever. But that's another story. Tune in next month for another unforgettable report.

ARTS & CRAFTS FAIR
Participants are now being chosen for the second annual Arts & Crafts Fair, to be held June 2 as part of the Greenbelt Day celebrations.

A limited number of artists will be chosen to insure variety and because of space limitations. There will be a fee—a donation to the Cultural Arts Center. Anyone wishing to be considered should call Eileen Peterson, 345-2454 in the evening before 9 p.m.

As was done last year, a variety of musical and dance entertainment is planned throughout the day. Performers interested in this part of the program should call Eileen.

Green Line Group to Meet
The newly formed Citizens for the Green Line will meet on Wednesday, March 21, at 8 p.m. in the Park and Recreation Building of the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission, 6600 Kenilworth Avenue, Riverdale.

An up-to-date presentation of the "E" line—Green Route status and its problems—will be given by county officials. Also, the actions taken by the Steering Committee on February 21 and 22 will be presented. Mayor Gil Weidenfeld is a member of the committee.

The public is invited.

Fire & Rescue Review

by F/F Bill Rowland
and April Walker
Weekly Calls

The Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad ran 25 calls during the week of March 10. Fire calls: 4 transfers to other companys, 2 structural fires, and one alarm bells. Rescue calls: 6 sick people, 4 injured people, 3 vehicle accidents, 2 calls for trouble breathing, one shooting, one over-dose, and one dead on arrival.

Trauma

On Wednesday, March 7, at 7 p.m. the Greenbelt fire department responded to a two vehicle accident at the intersection of Greenbelt and Mandan Rds. Four people were injured. The drivers of both vehicles were the most seriously injured. One received a seriously broken leg and the other received a head trauma and is still in Prince Georges General Hospital listed in critical condition. Leaking gasoline and trapped persons complicated the efforts of the fire and rescue personnel. The cause of the accident is being investigated by the Greenbelt police.

Shooting

At noon on Thursday, March 8, the fire department was summoned to Hanover Parkway for a possible shooting. Upon arrival of fire and rescue units one male resident was found to be suffering from a gun shot wound to the chest. Efforts to revive the victim were not successful. While suicide is suspected to be the cause of death, the incident is still under investigation by the police.

Recreation Review

Kite Flying Contest

The March winds are just around the corner and soon children's thoughts will turn to the age old sport of kiting. The Greenbelt Recreation Department has planned their annual Kite Flying Contest. The date will be Saturday, March 24, on Braden Field at 12 noon. Rain date is March 31. Watch the News Review for further details.

Wild Flowers of Prince Georges County and Maryland

Wild Flowers of Prince Georges County and Maryland will be identified on field trips to different ecological sites during the spring through late summer. Students will acquire the skills and information to further pursue the identification of wild flowers beyond those learned in the course. Students should be physically active. For further information on fees and times, call the Recreation Department, 474-6878, Monday thru Friday, 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Internships at Archives

The Maryland Hall of Records Commission has announced openings for seven positions for its Summer Archival Internship Program at the State Archives in Annapolis. The ten-week internships carry a stipend of $1,375.

Candidates for the internship program must be currently enrolled graduate students or advanced undergraduates who have received all or part of their education at Maryland institutions or who are Maryland residents attending an out-of-state college or university. Participants in previous summer internship programs at the Hall of Records are not eligible to reapply. Finalists will be interviewed in mid-April.

Persons interested in archival work may obtain applications by writing to the Hall of Records, P.O. Box 828, Annapolis, Maryland 21404, or by calling 269-3915. The deadline is April 6.

Police Blotter

Compiled from Information
Furnished by the Greenbelt
Police Department

On March 7 a serious accident occurred at Mandan and Greenbelt Road. The operator of the vehicle which struck another vehicle was, at last report, in critical condition at the Prince Georges Shock Trauma Unit.

On March 2 Pfc. Thomas R. Justin arrested two non-resident juvenile girls for shoplifting at Marshall's in Beltway Plaza. The two suspects were observed by security personnel removing property and attempting to leave the store without paying for it.

Pfc. John R. Squires arrested a non-resident male on March 3 for shoplifting at Marshall's. The suspect had removed his shoes, replaced them with new shoes and then attempted to leave without paying.

On March 8, Officer J. Michael Rasmussen arrested a non-resident male for shoplifting at Photo World in Beltway Plaza. The suspect had placed several rolls of film inside his jacket and was attempting to leave the store.

Pfc. James D. Love and Pfc. Juan Turner attended a Crime Scene Investigation School last week in Pennsylvania.
